The main objectives are to:

- Better understand the relationship between the oil, gas and mining industries and the SDGs by:
  - Highlighting how the industries can contribute to SDG progress by integrating the goals into business and social investment strategies
  - Examining challenges the industries face and efforts to address these, including climate change and the transition to a future low-carbon economy

- Explore how multi-stakeholder partnerships and participation can enhance industry contributions to the SDGs, by examining practical examples and sharing experiences from the government, industry and civil society perspectives.

The event will be held under the Chatham House Rule.

More details to follow.

Please register by 8 September 2017 (by invitation only).